

Community College Data

Dr. William, Crowe

Dr. William Crowe has over 30 years of executive leadership and teaching in higher education including 24 years with Tyler Junior College, the last 14 of which he served as President of the college. Retiring in 2007 from this presidency, he embarked on various research projects with the University of Georgia which included data collection and analysis of community college advancement throughout the nation. He currently teaching graduate courses on community college resource development through the Ferris State University Doctorate in Community College Leadership program and community college ethics courses through National American University Roueche Graduate Center again as part of the Community college leadership program. Dr. Crowe earned his Ph.D in Educational Leadership from the University of Texas at Austin, his MBA from the University of Texas at Tylor and his BBA in Marketing and Management from the University of Texas at Austin – Red McCombs School of Business.